

AGR 1933 : INTRODUCTION TO ANIMAL SCIENCE

A study of animals that provide food, fiber, and companionship to humankind, including the history and scope of animal agriculture, products produced from animals, reproduction, breeding and genetics, nutrients and digestion, lactation, behavior, and overview of production systems.

Credits 3

Lecture Hours 3

Lab Hours 0